California Alliance to Stop the Spray (CASS)

A collective of organizations, health professionals, attorneys, scientists, business owners, and individuals who believe that it is an inalienable right to not have their persons, property or air space sprayed with any substance.

www.CASSonline.org

CASS embraces the spirit of the “Precautionary Principle” - that if an action or policy might cause severe or irreversible harm to the public, in the absence of a scientific consensus that harm would not ensue, the burden of proof falls on those who would advocate taking the action to prove its safety in advance.

CASS provides an organizational vehicle by which residents of the state protect their inalienable rights to safety and privacy, and to not have their persons or property, including public areas, sprayed with chemicals or any other substance.

The guiding principles of CASS are to:

- Coordinate and mutually support each other's efforts.
- Maximize available resources in order to prevent duplication of efforts.
- Develop consensus documents that everyone can use in their individual and coordinated efforts.
- Utilize constructive Action Teams to develop mutually supportive tasks and focused strategies that are coordinated between the groups and individuals.
- Treat each other with kindness as valued colleagues.
- Allow for growth and change.

Our collective concern has arisen out of the fact that the “Light Brown Apple Moth (LBAM) eradication program” currently underway in several California counties utilizes a biochemical pesticide spray that has not undergone formal safety testing by either federal or state agencies, that the spray has never been sprayed on humans before, that the end goal of eradication will likely not be accomplished, and of particular concern, is the lack of an effective adverse effects monitoring system for assessing the potential for adverse human health effects.

CASS goals:

- 1) Stop the Next Spray scheduled for early 2008!
- 2) Stop the Entire 2008 Cycle of Spraying.
- 3) Stop All Spraying Forever!
